Hi Heather,

There is no telephone directory online. To answer your questions -

The city cannot confirm who owns that social media account.

There is a policy for city employees please see attached. Note that this policy addresses city employees who are criticizing the city specifically.

(See attached file: Policy 03-05-04 Employees Publicly Criticizing the City.pdf)

Thanks,
Kelly

Hi all,

Not sure what to do with this request.
There is a city policy where by employees are not to publicly criticize or condemn the city on social media...I have to look it up for the exact wording.
If someone is operating under a pseudonym then how does this policy apply?

Jeers: to being in limbo. Connie Parsons' attempts to get city approval to create a larger parking space at her eponymous School of Dance on Portugal Cove Road have been frustrated at every turn since August. Now, some residents of nearby Kent Place in east-end St. John's are lawyering up in their opposition to the expansion. Parsons bought the lot next door in order to create more parking for the well-established centre and deal with congestion on the street. Neighbours say added parking will mean more traffic and noise. Opposition to commercial activity in a quiet residential area is understandable, but we're talking girls in tutus and tap shoes here, not a busy fast-food drive-thru or a motorcycle gang clubhouse. The matter will come before council again soon for another vote.

TELEGRAM - Cheer and Jeers
December, 18, 2017

Jeers: to being in limbo. Connie Parsons' attempts to get city approval to create a larger parking space at her eponymous School of Dance on Portugal Cove Road have been frustrated at every turn since August. Now, some residents of nearby Kent Place in east-end St. John's are lawyering up in their opposition to the expansion. Parsons bought the lot next door in order to create more parking for the well-established centre and deal with congestion on the street. Neighbours say added parking will mean more traffic and noise. Opposition to commercial activity in a quiet residential area is understandable, but we're talking girls in tutus and tap shoes here, not a busy fast-food drive-thru or a motorcycle gang clubhouse. The matter will come before council again soon for another vote.

TELEGRAM - Cheer and Jeers
December, 18, 2017

Jeers: to being in limbo. Connie Parsons' attempts to get city approval to create a larger parking space at her eponymous School of Dance on Portugal Cove Road have been frustrated at every turn since August. Now, some residents of nearby Kent Place in east-end St. John's are lawyering up in their opposition to the expansion. Parsons bought the lot next door in order to create more parking for the well-established centre and deal with congestion on the street. Neighbours say added parking will mean more traffic and noise. Opposition to commercial activity in a quiet residential area is understandable, but we're talking girls in tutus and tap shoes here, not a busy fast-food drive-thru or a motorcycle gang clubhouse. The matter will come before council again soon for another vote.

I've asked Noel to get weather details for me. When I left here yesterday there was an odour noticeable outside, however I drove to Stavanger Drive via Logy Bay Road and Snows Lane. I did notice a manure smell around Snows Lane.

Actually this year there haven't been too many. The two most adamant ones we got this year weren't caused by the landfill but were from a dumpster by Sobey's and manure being spread.

Any capital improvements won't happen until at least until next year.

Hi [redacted]

I am in Deer Lake at meetings however I had another call and looked into
it. This is really the "perfect" weather for the odor. The low ceiling, warm temperatures and low wind speed do not allow the landfill gasses to dissipate. Rather the odor is slowly moved before dissipation.

We have funds in our capital budget to cap the remaining portion of the landfill to capture those gasses and we have engaged a consultant for the design work.

Thanks for letting me know.

Hi [redacted]

Thanks for your email. When I was first elected in 2009, there were many complaints from all over the east end of the City related to an odour from the landfill. Council engaged a U.S.A. Based consultant that specializes in this area. The consultant provided a series of recommendations that were implemented. The most significant was the landfill gas collection system which was expanded over the entire face of the landfill. Additionally the orientation of the landfill was changed from running north south to east west. There remains times hen an odour will come from the landfill, highly dependant on a combination of wind direction, speed and low ceiling. Additionally the area is very industrial and the consultant recognized the odour may be the landfill combined with other operations that may be going on at a particular time.

Since the changes were implemented there has been a significant reduction in complaints concerning the landfill odour. We do however monitor and investigate any complaints we get to ensure whether there are operational issues or whether it is a weather related issue.

It is helpful for is if when you experience this odour problem to drop

Hey Steve,

There is that Pic again. Yes very aware of this one. It came to our attention Friday, sent to our Facebook. It was addressed and thought put to bed.

However I guess the originator of the pic wanted more public attention and sent it to this Donny Dooley guy, NL Traffics local yokel, a type of commentary that reminds me of a high school peanut gallery, I guess this name is his secret alias . Sure enough he made his own take on it.

We have spoken with all staff and the driver responsible. Certainly not the publicity we want, however this is the way of social media. You will find that upon further investigation, there does not appear to be a handicap area in which the truck is parked, and also the load is secured by means of tie down straps that ratchet the gear tight to the box side walls, the straps are on the inside of the pan. Not seen from the casual observer.

I will say the parking on a angle, if not angle parking (likely isn't angle parking), is certainly incorrect. Safety First has a back in policy in all parking locations, this should not have happened. The driver has been counseled accordingly.

Thanks for bringing it to my attention though, much appreciated.

Cheers

Danny, there were no ACR cases over the weekend on odor from the Landfill. The SJRFD did respond to a request to a possible propane leak on Larner St that came from the City at 9:07 pm on April 2. However, I looked at the ACR issues for the day and there is no record of that in the system. The Fire Dept did a reading of the area with a gas detector and couldn't find anything. The Captain indicated that it seemed the smell was coming from the landfill and a resident said that it was a common smell in that area coming from the landfill.

At around 7 pm the winds switched to ESE and were light at 1.6 km/hr. At the time of the complaints around 9 pm they 4.8 km ENE.

Of course...I am interested to find out if the FD responded to or received a call from Snows Lane. [redacted] lives south of the landfill and Snows lane in Northwest of the landfill...I am no expert but I think it is difficult to see how the odor would affect both areas at once.
